Steel Merger War Reaches Climax Today

STOCKHOLDERS MEET TO CAST DECIDING VOTE

Suit To Prevent Use of Over 51 000 Shares Brought by Otis & Co

HEARING IS HELD TODAY

Meeting of Stockholders Adjourned Until Tonight To Permit Count of Proxies

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN O April 8—T[illegible] Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co [illegible] Bethlehem Steel [illegible] was second [illegible] Stambaugh [illegible] at 1:20 p m today.

The stockholders immediately began voting [illegible] election of directors [illegible] More than 300 stockholders were present when Frank Purnell president of Sheet & Tube called the meeting to order. [illegible] the vote on [illegible] both the proponents and opponents to the merger were [illegible] huddle in the front of the stage.

After electing the inspectors the meeting adjourned until [illegible] tonight to permit time to count opposition proxies.

In the meantime Judge C. S. Turnbaugh of Cambridge O. had under [illegible] this afternoon a suit filed by Otis & Company Cleveland brokers to bar the management of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co from [illegible] 100% shares held by Otis & Company for the merger.

Judge Turnbaugh said he might render a decision some time today.

The stockholders meeting opened at 10:45 a m today while 10 minutes previously hearing was begun in common pleas court to prevent the voting of 51,0[illegible] of Sheet & Tube stock held by Otis & Company.

Luther Day attorney for Otis & Company said he would ask a temporary restraining order to block voting of the stock.

Ovation for Campbell

James A. Campbell Sheet & Tube chairman, received an ovation when he mounted the platform at the stockholders meeting. He turned the meeting over to Frank Purnell Sheet & Tube president who presented a list of stockholders as of [illegible] p m March [illegible]

D[illegible] the proxy committee [illegible] Otis & Company [illegible] The former owners of this stock first gave their proxies to Sheet & Tube and then sold their stock in the open market after the date for [illegible] of ownership had passed.

No Assignments Is Claim

Otis & Company bought the stock and [illegible] alleges that the buyer specified that assignment of proxy was to go with the stock but that assignments were delivered and the purchase thus was worthless so far as [illegible] was concerned.

The [illegible] asks to force Sheet & Tube [illegible] proxies of the former owner [illegible] not voted 51[illegible] toward the quota to confirm the merger would be lost.

Day said the Otis & Company has a legal right to prevent the proxy committee from voting the shares although the company [illegible] itself.

City Stirred Up

All Youngstown was waiting nervously for the dramatic [illegible] stockholders [illegible] decide the [illegible] and one of the most [illegible] steel battles of the past two decades.

Eugene G. Grace president of Bethlehem arrived at [illegible] p m to take personal charge of the fight [illegible] It was also announced that James A. Campbell [illegible] chairman of Sheet & Tube and Cyrus S. Eaton Cleveland financier and head of the opposition [illegible] would address the stockholders.

At the same time [illegible] the opposition announced they will contest [illegible] shares purchased [illegible] above stock market value since the merger was announced. They said [illegible] payment for proxies, and because the purchasers can pay a high price they have the advantage over other stockholders. Prices paid for some of the shares were reported to have run up as high as $180 a share. In view of this, new angle to the contest it appeared that the stockholders vote would not be announced for several days.

One of the most spectacular battles of modern big business reached

A huge crowd consisting of many Gandhi sympathizers gathered outside the courthouse while the case of Ramdas was being decided. They staged a demonstration of protest on learning he had been sent to jail.

Meanwhile Gandhi himself continued his defiance of the police goading them to take him into custody. The authorities are mowing down his lieutenants and supporters right and left but appear to be leaving the Nationalist leader severely alone.

MOVE WOULD BOOST RATES TO CONSUMERS

By Acceptance of Proposal Marion Will Forfeit Benefits of Court Battle.

$1 WOULD BE MINIMUM

Concern Asks 60 Cents for First 1 000 Cubic Feet Cost Is Now 48 Cents.

Movement to extricate Marion from the gas rate fight which has raged in [illegible] for five years, and to secure from this city a gas franchise was launched last night by officials of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

A [illegible] proposition calling for [illegible] higher gas rate than now exists Robert C. Foster local manager [illegible] company [illegible] with the franchise [illegible] the interstate [illegible] gas franchise.

The [illegible] did not express itself either for or against the proposed rates [illegible] members [illegible] tentative arrangements [illegible] future meetings were made.

Minimum Charge $1

A franchise with the [illegible] supply [illegible] 60 cents per 1,000 cubic feet [illegible] minimum charge of $1 for the [illegible] feet is seen as the objective of the gas company according to reports.

This rate is higher than the existing [illegible] rate and is one that has been previously refused by the city.

To grant a franchise now the city would automatically forfeit its rights [illegible] a rate fight which though still in [illegible] the public utilities commission has been practically won by approximately 30 protesting cities and villages.

Slight changes in the valuation of the gas company's leasehold ordered by the supreme court in a review are yet to be made by the commission before the case is decided.

It is expected that these changes will alter the valuations fixed by the commission but that the sites of the cities and villages in the fight will be materially reduced.

In spite of declarations of the local franchise that it is facing annual deficits [illegible] the present rate local [illegible] lower rates will be ordered by the commission when the gas rate fight is finally decided.

Claim More Lines Needed

While the fight before the utilities commission has been under way the local [illegible] has refused to extend its lines [illegible] winter the gas pressure here was so low that many residents were without gas for [illegible] coldest days. To provide adequate pressure the company claims a line should be built connecting this city with a trunk line passing through Green Camp.

The company has offered to build this line if the 60 cent rate is granted here.

Present rate schedule of the gas company calls for a minimum charge [illegible] for the first [illegible] 48 [illegible]

Ohio's Leading Counties Pave With Concrete

Hamilton County, in the center of the great commercial and industrial region about Cincinnati, led all Ohio counties in the amount of concrete pavement authorized during 1929. Nearly three-quarters of a million square yards—equal to 73 miles of pavement 18 feet wide—were placed under contract.

Cuyahoga County—center of the heaviest traffic in the state, continued its road and street improvement by awarding contracts for over six hundred thousand square yards of concrete pavement.

These counties have had long experience with all kinds of pavements. That's why they now build with concrete!

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE 2 DAYS FOR EASTER

Spring Vacation Cut Down Due to Late Opening of School Term.

A week from Thursday night Marion school children will go home joyful in the knowledge that they have Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday free for spring vacation. This is an unusual spring vacation schedule. The old grads of the class of '25 can look back with favor on their spring vacation that lasted a week.

Due to the late opening of school this term Supt. George A. [illegible] has set the vacation period this year at two school days. If "spring" keeps up at the pace its been going the boys and girls will be glad to have a warm building to go to instead of at home where the stoves have been cooled off and the furnaces let die down with one or two balmy days.

25 FILE CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION

Deadline for Making Applications with Veterans' Bureau Brings Rush

Twenty five World war veterans figured in the last minute rush to present compensation claims, Miss Margaret Dowd, Red Cross secretary, revealed today.

The deadline for filing [illegible] claims was April 6 and as usual many put off filing their claims until the last minute.

Since each claim takes approximately two hours time to prepare, the Red Cross office was the scene of much activity for the last few weeks.

One of the 25 is hoped to bring compensation to a widow whose husband died either in service or from injuries received in service. Another was the claim of a dependent father. One father presented a claim for the death of his son who was killed in action and on whom the father relied for support.

Kidnaping Attempt Frustrated by Police

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 8—An [illegible] attempt to kidnap Alderman [illegible] W. Govier, candidate for Democratic committeeman of the seventh ward, was frustrated by police early today. Three men were arrested. Govier signed complaints charging them with assault with intent to kill.

Seven men, several carrying pistols, attempted to take Alderman Govier from his automobile, which had been crowded to the curb by the others' machine. Govier's bodyguard [illegible] knocked one of the attackers down and the others had surrounded Govier when a cruising detective squad car arrived.

The seven fled, but three were arrested shortly afterward. They were Harvey Jones, a backer of Govier's committeeman opponent, Joseph P. Spiker, Stanley Beckman and Ellsworth Wass.

GAS COMPANY ASKS CITY FRANCHISE

cents a thousand feet for the next 1,500 feet.

Fight Started In 1925

The gas rate fight started here in February, 1925, when the Logan Gas Co., now the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., filed a new rate schedule with the utilities commission. The schedule provided for an increase in rates of 56 communities and cities.

Marion was among 33 cities and villages to protest the increased rates, and to carry the fight to its present status.

Those present at the meeting last night were Irvin Prettyman, W. G. Slack, and M. W. Kline, members of the franchise committee; Mayor L. Don Jones, Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine, City Solicitor Carter Patton, R. C. Foster, local manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.; Hoke Donithen, attorney for the company.

DELEGATIONS WILL ATTEND SERVICES

Rev. Carl V. Roop To Preach from Text, "Where Art Thou," Tonight.

A large congregation heard the Rev. Carl V. Roop preach last night at First United Brethren church on "Who Then Can Be Saved?"

He said: "To be saved from sin and still hold on to sin is as unreasonable as to suppose that we could be cured from a disease and still have the disease. Schemes of salvation without being saved, are not salvation at all, but will end in ruin and bitter disappointment."

"Where Art Thou?" will be the text of his sermon for tonight.

Delegations from Cardington and Galion are expected to the services tonight. The Ladies' Aid society will attend in a body.

Wednesday night all church members are expected to attend. The Woman's Missionary association, the Otterbein Guild and primary and junior departments of the Sunday school will attend the services Thursday night. Friday night has been set aside as Christian Endeavor and orchestra night.

RESPONSE GOOD

Enumerators Experience No Difficulty in Taking Census.

Information sought by census takers is being given readily by residents of the Marion district, according to District Supervisor Frank A. Berry.

"We have had no serious trouble with persons refusing to give our enumerators information," Berry said today. "On the whole, the response has been excellent."

Berry has 200 workers in Marion and surrounding counties compiling the 1930 population census of the district.

cratic chairman who testified before the committee Friday.

Southerners "Het Up"

Senator Black, Democrat of Alabama, was called "a contemptible liar" by J. E. Pierce, Huntsville, Ala., publisher, who followed Daniels on the stand to be questioned in the Muscle Shoals lobby.

The exchange between Black and Pierce almost resulted in blows and both said they would settle it outside after the hearings.

"Everybody in Alabama knows you are a coward by nature," Black told Pierce.

"I'll see you outside right now," said Peirce, standing up from his seat.

"We will settle it after the hearing," Black said with a smile. "All you ever do is write attacks in your paper and everybody in Alabama knows that."

STEEL MERGER VOTE SCHEDULED TODAY

Battle Over Bethlehem and Youngstown Deal Reaches Climax.

its decisive point in today's proceedings.

The shareholders' meeting came as a climax to three weeks of intense fighting for proxies.

Although Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier directing the struggle to prevent the consolidation, lost his fight to stop today's meeting, he reiterated his claims that he and his associates "are absolutely confident of defeating the proposed merger." Those urging the consolidation likewise were confident of victory.

Sensational Witness

Eaton proved a sensational witness in federal court late yesterday. Telling of the ramifications of his large operations in holding companies and in the steel industry, he declared that passing of control of Sheet & Tube to the east would "make clerks of all of us in the middle west."

He said he was opposed to eastern control of Sheet & Tube on the grounds that Bethlehem's offer of four shares for three is too low and that the steel industry's future lies westward.

Approval of holders of 800,000 of the approximately 1,200,000 shares of Sheet & Tube common stock was needed to ratify the merger which would make Bethlehem a billion-dollar corporation. Eaton said he and his associates alone controlled 310,000 shares.

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, in denying the injunction yesterday which would have prevented today's meeting, asserted that the court was concerned only in case of allegations of fraud and pointed out that no such charges were made by the opposition. It is not for the court to say whether the deal is a fair bargain, but rather for the stockholders, he said.

Appeal Scheduled

Attorney Luther Day, representing the Eaton interests said an appeal from the decision of Judge Tuttle would be filed today in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati. In the event the stockholders should approve the merger, the appeal, if granted, would nullify the stockholders' act.

The anti-merger group, although asserting they had enough votes to defeat the deal, explained their court attacks on the issue by saying they were afraid the pro-merger group might resort to some legal "tricks" in connection with the balloting.

COVINGTON, Ky., April 8—Federal law enforcement agencies moved today to remove the source of what health officers believe to be the cause of the recent outbreak in Kentucky and other states of partial paralysis—adulterated Jamaica ginger.

Following the voting of 25 indictments by a federal grand jury here for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, two federal officers today were on their way to eastern cities to serve capias warrants on indicted officers of various concerns charged with manufacturing or distributing the product.

Sawyer Smith, federal district attorney, declared government chemists have found that denatured alcohol was the principal ingredient of the ginger concoction, with castor oil used as a solvent. He declared manufacturers have profited as much as $1,700 a barrel on the product.

Thinking of Generations To Come.

The name of those who have disfigured scenes of natural grandeur, rendered beautiful vistas unsightly, demolished architectural gems or destroyed masterpieces of art, is legion. Very few have been those who have searched out the beautiful, whether the handiwork of God or man, and given of their time, and their effort, and their means to its preservation.

We thought of this when reading of the purchase of 35,000 acres of privately-owned land in the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming by the Snake River Land company, acting for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who for several years has been working to make the tract purchased a part of the government's Rocky Mountain park system.

The Jackson Hole country adjoins the the Grand Teton National park, which boasts the majestic range of mountains whose lofty peaks rise something like a score of miles to the south of Yellowstone park. It is one of the wildest bits of country in the United States and in its rugged beauty one of the most picturesque. It is today classed as the last spot within our boundaries where the wild life flourishes as it did before the white man invaded the West. That it has retained its beauty little spoiled by the hand of man is largely due to its rugged wildness and the difficulty of its approach.

It is the plan of Mr. Rockefeller to efface every possible trace of the presence of the white man from the tract and then turn it over to the government for an addition to its park system, that the wild life of the Jackson Hole country may have just such a sanctuary as the government gives it in its other parks and that the beauty of the tract may be preserved to future generations.

Sometimes we are inclined to feel that the present generation does not appreciate to anything like the full the wonderful work Mr. Rockefeller and his father have been and are doing for this and future generations. To expend money is easy. To expend it wisely, is not always easy. When the accumulation is great, its wise expenditure is difficult. It is to be questioned if, in all history, there has been expenditure of great wealth which displayed wisdom the duplicate of that of the younger Rockefeller whose thought has embraced not only the present generation and that immediately to follow it, but also the generations for ages to come.

[illegible] opposition to the Root treaty in the present conference came from France, which insisted that the practice of setting the passengers and crews of merchant vessels adrift in open boats be legalized and utterly refused to agree to any provision by which the officers and crews of submarines might be tried for piracy in an enemy country.

While the agreement reached is not what was hoped for, it is another case of a half loaf being better than none at all. It will not wholly safeguard passengers and crews of merchant vessels—there will still be danger to them from submarine attack—but it will stop, so far as the five original signatory powers and all other powers which may subsequently approve it are concerned, such horrors as occurred time and again during the World war. This accomplishment alone will stand as justification for the conference if its efforts have no other result.

Clough Williams Ellis says that "there can be no private right to do a public wrong," which is good enough so far as it goes, but doesn't cover the many public assumptions of right to do a private wrong.

Democracy is planning 1,160 meetings to celebrate the 187 birthday anniversary of Thomas Jefferson. We take it that there is going to be an awful lot of "viewing with alarm" next Sunday, the day before and the day thereafter.

English Bread Prices Boosted.

The price of bread was raised a cent throughout England on each two-pound loaf Monday. Just why, nobody seems to know. If the English bakers know, they do not tell. The fact that the granaries of the world, those of China and Russia excepted, are overflowing with wheat would in itself be good reason why bread prices should be lowered rather than raised, especially in England, where an "Eat More Bread" campaign is on to encourage wheat consumption which has fallen off almost twenty per cent. since the close of the World war.

But the raise is far harder to understand in the face of cable reports that there is great concern in Britain over the possibility that the United States farm board may mill the surplus wheat it holds, estimated over there to be 100,000,000 bushels, grind it into flour and dump it there, as England, Holland and Denmark are the only European countries in which dumping would be possible as they are the only ones admitting flour free. One hundred million bushels of wheat, the British millers figure, would make 4,000,000,000 pounds of flour, two-thirds of Britain's annual requirement, and this decrease in the demand on the English mills could not do other than increase unemployment, which is already very great, make unsaleable the wheat of the British farmer, affect Canadian and Australian wheat imports and be harmful to business generally.

Under all these conditions, the mystification of the British public over the action of the bakers is not hard to understand. There has long been a worldwide theory that the price of a product is in part influenced by the cost of the material going into it, and in part by supply and demand. The English bakers seem to figure that the lower the cost of material, the greater its supply and the less the demand for the product, the higher should be its cost. The old theory, that the less you sell, the more you must charge for it to play even, seems to hold with them. It will be interesting to watch the outcome of their action and see how near they come to "muddling through."

Right Foods Will Halt Pellagra.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Pellagra is a disease which was first discovered in northern Spain away back in 1735. Fortunately it is a disease of man found in relatively few places.

For many years it was common only in some parts of Italy. In the past century people in some parts of France, Roumania and Egypt have been afflicted by it.

The United States did not recognize the disease as such until 1908. It was first discovered in Georgia. Among the poor and undernourished in some towns the diet was very much restricted to corn. Here it was that pellagra was found to thrive.

Since that time pellagra has rapidly increased in the rural South and Middle West. By 1917 there were reported some 170,000 cases.

Investigators of this disease have attributed it to many different factors. Now the leading authorities agree that it is due to faulty diet.

The disease involves the nervous system, the digestive tract and the skin. There are pronounced gastric disturbances, nausea, gas formation and diarrhoea. Skin eruptions appear in spots or groups of spots. It may look not unlike sunburn. After a few days these symptoms pass and the skin is left rough and scaly.

There is burning in the mouth and swelling of the tongue. Pains are felt here and there. The sleep is broken.

Proper food and good hygiene are the secrets of cure for this trouble. One should follow a diet composed of plenty of sweet milk, buttermilk, steak, lamb chops and the white meat of chicken, fresh fish, canned salmon and the finer grained vegetables.

It is more important that the health be built up by the use of this nutritious, but simple, diet. Vigor and vitality will be retored and resistance to disease secured.

Most interesting are recent experiments in pellagra made at the Georgia State Sanitarium. It has been found canned salmon contains the preventive factor for this disease. Certainly it is a good as well as a cheap substitute for meat in the diet when the latter is not available.

Among the poorer classes in the industrial towns of Georgia the diet has consisted largely of corn and corn products. It was evident that these people were not well nourished.

There were eighteen women upon whom this experiment was made. It covered a period of a year. When canned salmon was used in the diet, none showed any signs of pellagra. Without this particular diet, including canned salmon, fully forty to fifty per cent. of them had evidences of pellagra within three to seven months. It was concluded that the right sort of protein food, as fish, meat or milk products, is necessary in the prevention of pellagra.

It is important that the proper selection of food for the promotion of health and well-being should be understood by every one. This fact has not been properly appreciated in the past.

What is true in the case of pellagra is also true of many other deficiency diseases. A well-balanced diet the year round is necessary to good health. Without it there can not be bodily vigor and the proper resistance to disease.

JAMMING OHIO'S PRISONS.

Brick, stone, mortar and steel bars will not solve Ohio's prison problem. "Penal population is increasing faster than the state will be able to provide enlarged prisons. Overcrowding is chronic, and will continue to be.

Those are the alarming aspects of Ohio's prison conditions, as revealed by a survey just completed by the Ohio institute. A few years ago almost as many prisoners left the Columbus penitentiary and the Mansfield reformatory annually as were received. For the past seven years this has not been true. At Columbus more than twice as many are received as leave. At Mansfield the ratio of arrivals and departures is more even, but normally many more come than go.

By good fortune Ohio has escaped the epidemic of bloody revolts that has called attention during the past year to bad prison conditions in many states. This good fortune may be due party to luck and partly, we believe, to the fact that our prisons are more intelligently administered than those of some other states.

How long can this good fortune continue in the face of chronic overcrowding with its attendant evil of idleness?

Certainly the facts revealed by this survey do not suggest a satisfactory answer to this question.

It is not flattering to learn that Ohio ranks close to the top of the list of states in the number of convicts in proportion to population. We have nearly three times as many, proportionally, as Massachusetts and half as many again as our neighbor state of Pennsylvania. Our ratio is twenty-five per cent. higher than that of the country as a whole.

Crime statistics and police records can not tell why this is so, the prison survey reports. It suggests that more extensive operation of a probation system in other states may have something to do with it.

This paper has always opposed "coddling" of criminals and has helped in the exposure in years past of abuses of the parole system in Ohio. We do not think the people of Ohio want any drastic letting-down of the bars now.

But obviously we can't go on jamming our prisons the way they are being jammed now. If the probation system in Ohio is faulty, as this survey indicates, it should be improved forthwith. On June 15 last there were 3,833 men on parole from Ohio penal institutions with seven parole officers in charge of them. Proper supervision is impossible under such conditions.

What are we going to do about it? More than a year ago the Plain Dealer urged upon Governor Cooper the need of investigation and improvement of Ohio's prison system to enable it to meet modern conditions. This survey emphasizes the need for action now:

"The time has come not only to face the immediate situation, but to formulate a logical plan of development for some years in advance. Steps taken at this time should take into account the requirements of the future and should be such as to reflect credit on the state ten or twenty years hence."

Here is a problem that must be met.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE SECOND CANAL.

The Nicaraguan canal, that great and somehow alluring project, has recently been under a heavy fire of criticism. Mr. John F. Stevens, the famous engineer of the Panama canal, has been demolishing it in the latest issue of "Foreign Affairs;" Panama dispatches have been treating it with derision and M. Philippe Bunau-Varilla, another great Panamanian, has been observing that there are volcanoes in Nicaragua. It was this argument that settled the business in the debate of thirty years ago. But the war department, whose engineers are now picking their way through the jungles along the San Juan river, unexpectedly responds with a discreet defense. If there are volcanoes in Nicaragua, there are earthquakes in Panama. The argument from seismic danger, according to Major General Lytle Brown, "like that of danger from human enemies * * * * * is an argument for two canals instead of one."

On strictly economic grounds there does not, in the light of our present rather imperfect knowledge, appear to be a good case for a second canal at present. But the desirability of having two strings to our bow? Mr. Stevens does not discuss these sinister dangers, but he disposes the argument that we need two canals for reasons of national defense by saying that "if one canal can be put out of commission, so can two." It is a debatable point—so much so, in fact, the debate [illegible] ends until it has been pushed into [illegible] of military metaphysics. Are we safer [illegible] one point which is absolutely vital [illegible] of which can be abandoned? [illegible] would prefer the second task. [illegible] the engineers are still in the [illegible] their surveys and estimates are [illegible] the argument is an argument in the [illegible]. The striking thing is that people are enough interested in the idea to argue it. — New York Herald Tribune.

The expectations of astronomers with Uranus and Neptune, discovered respectively 148 and eighty-four years ago [illegible] a very interesting question with [illegible] the new trans-neptunian planet.

After Uranus was discovered and its orbit computed from known positions at specific times, the astronomers began to note curious aberrations in its behavior. It acted like an eccentric individual. It didn't show up at the position and time where it was expected from the computed orbit. And things kept getting worse. The discrepancy between the observed place of Uranus and that prescribed for it finally reached, sixty-three years after its discovery, the formidable total of two seconds of arc.

This quantity is really so small as to seem "pernickety," according to Professor Young. But it was a distinct discrepancy, which had to be accounted for, however minute it might seem to the man in the street. Indeed, it was this very minute discrepancy which led to the suspicion that it was disturbed by some powerful, attractive body further away from the sun than itself.

Uranus got a quarter of a million miles off the track and acted as if it were trying to break away from the control of the sun. Astronomers suspected the presence of an unseen, perturbing body beyond Uranus. This body was fully discovered as the planet, Neptune. — Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

A certain family in New York has moved eight times in twelve months because of being unable to find an apartment-house that was neighborly. In desperation the husband has sold his business and is returning to a town of 10,000 in Illinois, where they formerly lived in great happiness.

I have lived in one hotel in New York for nine years and have slight nodding acquaintance with only two families living there. And they don't seem so eager about it.

William A. Brady has won and lost more fortunes than any other entertainment promoter on Broadway. His latest million is from his play, "Street Scene," or at least will reach that figure by mid-summer. Among potential millions he was offered, but rejected were the plays "Within the Law," "Rain" and "Broadway."

Brady is said to be the heaviest cigar smoker in town. He often goes to sleep puffing one and upon awakening his first act is to light up. Save when he is eating, there is scarcely a moment he is without his torch.

Frisco, the stuttering comic, is high up in the list of inveterate cigar smokers. And he puffs the strongest tobacco. "They wo-would ga-ga-gag a bu-buzzard," he says.

Figures from the agriculture department tell us that more than 1,900,000 persons moved from farms to towns last year [illegible] more than 1,250,000 moved from towns [illegible] cities out to the farms. So it's nothing to worry about. When the demand for [illegible] products gets about so great, enough [illegible] begin tilling the soil to meet the demand. That's the way things are and we really [illegible] worry ourselves into any other situation.

The late Chief Justice Taft was a Unitarian. That is to say, he was a member of the Unitarian church. Does that mean anything to you? It may or it may not, but there is one thing about Mr. Taft that ought to mean a great deal to us. His favorite [illegible] in the Bible was this: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

That was creed enough for a great [illegible] man. It is creed enough for the most [illegible] ful and the humblest.

If you do not think this is a rich [illegible] we live in there are several ways of [illegible] it. A fire insurance company has found that the folks in the United States [illegible] past ten years have thrown on the scrap [illegible] more than $12,000,000,000 worth of automobiles. That means more than 15, [illegible] cars which cost on the average $800 each. Inasmuch as motor manufacturers made some $26,000,000,000 worth of cars in the past ten years, one can see that there are $14,000,000,000 worth of them still going. Somebody must have some money.

If American women think they have a hard time—and many of them do—let them learn about marriage among the natives of Africa. Mrs. Akeley, in her "Jungle Portraits," says men are desirable as warriors, but the women "till the soil, carry the burdens, help build the huts, prepare and help cook the food, make the pottery, and bring a substantial price in the marriage market. Buying a wife on the installment plan is not an uncommon arrangement."

One wonders what happens when the [illegible] groom falls down on his installments [illegible] they are only half paid.

Truax Scores Administration and Wall Street in Speech in Lima.

LIMA, April 8—"When Calvin Coolidge walked out of the White House, urban prosperity walked out with him, and is so conspicuous by its absence that for the first time in history, prosperity must be advertised from billboards so that we may know it is still here," declared Charles V. Truax, of Bucyrus, former director of agriculture and Democratic candidate for United States Senator in a speech here today.

Truax pointed to the lower prices which farmers are receiving for wheat and livestock now and held the Hoover administration responsible. He also said that "Wall Street had bankrupted the farmer."

"After doing that, and driving the independent merchant and manufacturer out of business, Wall Street now seeks new and larger fields," stated the Bucyrus man. "Ohio's steel industry is the latest victim and as Cyrus S. Eaton says, 'Wall Street control would make clerks of us all.'"

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS

"Hallelujah" at Marion

MOVIE patrons are given an opportunity to see something out of the ordinary both in story and production in the presentation of Hallelujah, King Vidor's all-colored talkie at the Marion theater. The picture closes at the Marion tonight.

The picture is an intimate story of the lives and loves, joys and sorrows of the colored folks of the old south portrayed with the vividness and feeling of their race by what might be called an all star cast. The music includes negro spirituals and chants expressing the feelings of the brothers and sisters in their joyous moods, their emotions under stress of religious excitement and sorrow. Daniel Haynes who as Zeke is the central figure in the story possesses a vigorous bass voice which registers perfectly in the picture.

The story has to do with the career of Zeke who falls in with evil companions among them Chick, a pretty hanger-on in a gambling den where he loses the family earnings of the cotton season. His younger brother is killed in a fight and he returns home heart broken. He enters the ministry but deserts it for Chick. A vivid drama then climaxes the problem to the satisfaction of Zeke's family and Missy, a plantation girl who loves him.

[illegible] returned Mr. Raymond. "Well, I suppose you've [illegible] old head. Where [illegible]

"Marriage is a serious business [illegible] I may not appear [illegible] person."

[illegible] your modesty [illegible] You're [illegible] thing. The [illegible] experience of men is [illegible] sees a real [illegible] like you, she'll [illegible] first [illegible] turned the [illegible] will call yourself [illegible] belong to the [illegible] of Chicago. Get to [illegible]

[illegible] Are you [illegible] cold blood [illegible] make [illegible] split of [illegible] girl's money."

Mr. D[illegible] made no reply to th[illegible] except to say in a casual sort of way:

"You'll have the handling of the money if you marry her, won't you? And if I put you on to it, don't I deserve some sort of recognition?"

"Who is the party of the third part, if it's not a rude question?"

"Leila Stratton," returned D[illegible]. "She's on the scene already. She's at the hotel and has already become the [illegible]. Her name for the moment is Mrs. [illegible] Mason. [illegible] a pleasant [illegible] as simple as she looks. So you'll have to keep your eye [illegible]. Leila is taking her to [illegible] club tomorrow and that will [illegible] chance to get an introduction."

But marriage is a serious thing," returned Raymond.

"You said that before. So is 100,000 pounds a serious thing. If she's willing, I've no doubt at all you will be able to overcome your scruples [illegible] your hesitation. The first thing for you to do is to get introduced to [illegible] Jacqueline Grey and make her fall in love with you. Do you think you can do it?"

Mr. Raymond smiled in a rather [illegible] way at the cadaverous face of the lawyer. "The only thing I'm afraid of," he murmured, "is that it will be too easy."

All of which might have fallen out vastly different if it had not been that on the following day Jacqueline met Todd Montrose.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

TUESDAY—It was cool but bammy when I let Jubilee down by his rope and when I had got my chores tended to and had got out to the barn and was milking the dummed brutes the rain come pouring down and Peanuts got drownded before he got in the barn. Then the rain stopped and when the others got there they were dry as they could be and by the time I had fed my fa[illegible] and [illegible] all started out to go to school the sun was shining but we could hear the thunder rolling around somewhere on the other side of the world. [illegible] said she should think the [illegible] would be [illegible] pretty soon and she said she loved them so she could hardly wait for them to come out and the Little Bag of Tripe told her Thomas Aristides is your lila and she got red and just for that I chased him almost all the way to school but I didn't try so very hard to catch him I guess I was kinda glad he told it to her. I liked the way she looked to me and at me when he had said it. Then when I sot on a fence and waited till they caught up Feeble said that skunk cabbages was the first things out in the spring and asted me if I wouldn't be her skunk cabbage and she rolled up her eyes at me and clasped her hands and everybody hollered. I was mad and asted her if she remembered how my unkle had spanked her, and she said, "Gee, the place hurts yet. But you wouldn't hit a lady behind her back would you, Thomas Aristides? I told her I would like to, and she stuck out her tongue and said, "Try and do it!" I told her that someday I might surprise her.

When we got out of school and were going down to the pond we saw a kite way up in the air and we followed it till we came to the vacant lot where we play ball and it was a woman and two men flying the kite and there weren't any kids there. We watched them fly it for quite a while and it was a box kite without any tail like I have always wished I had. We all laid down on the ground watching the kite and the man that had it up gave the string to the lady and she acted as pleased as if she had been little and when it started going down she started to run and turned around sudden and fell all over Pickles before she saw where she was going. She let go of the string and both the men ran to help her up so none of them saw where the kite went and she told Pickles she was sorry, and all of them were polite instead of fussing at us so we were so supprised we didn't see where it went either. They were so nice that I went and got the kite for them where I had seen it go down and they thanked me and took it and went home. If they hadn't been so polite I would have had the kind of a kite I have always wanted. I wish my father and mother would fly kites.

Lovely Smooth Skin that millions admire

MARY PHILBIN, lovely Universal star, in the bathroom built for her in Hollywood. "A star's skin," she says, "must have that marvelous smoothness we call 'studio skin.' I entrust mine to Lux Toilet Soap's gentle care."

When a screen star poses for the close-up, she knows the glaring lights are a cruel test of beauty. Mary Philbin's skin shows up exquisitely lovely.

"EXQUISITE smooth skin has tremendous appeal," says Irvin Willat, famous Universal director, summing up the experience of 45 leading Hollywood directors—experience gained in finding out just which kind of beauty will most surely win and hold world popularity for a girl on the screen.

And so, of the 521 important actresses in Hollywood, including all stars, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap. Every one of the great film studios has made it the official soap for dressing rooms.

The Broadway stage stars too long ago made this fragrant white soap their own. And now, the continental screen stars have adopted it—in France, in England, in Germany!

You too, will love the way it cares for your skin. Order several cakes—today.

THERE WAS SOMETHING of good fortune in the discovery of Camel's inimitable blend. Nothing like it has ever been known. . . . But in addition to the blend, another reason for Camel's superiority is the willingness of its manufacturers to put money into tobacco quality. Postal Department Will Issue Graf Zeppelin Stamp

POSTMASTERS and employes of the postal service have been advised that the department is about to issue three special Zeppelin air mail stamps of 65-cent, $1.30 and $2 denominations, for use on mail matter carried on the Graf Zeppelin's first Europe-Pan American round-trip flight, to be made early in May.

The stamps are the same shape and size as the regular air mail stamps. The border design is the same for each stamp, with the necessary change of numerals representing the value. At the top of the stamp in a straight line are the words "Graf Zeppelin" with the words "Europe-Pan American Flight" directly beneath. At the bottom of the stamp in a dark panel appear the words "United States Postage" and within circles in both lower corners are the numerals showing the denomination.

The 65-cent stamp is printed in green and contains as the central design a representation of the Graf Zeppelin in flight across the Atlantic ocean in an eastward direction. In the $1.30 stamp the airship is similarly shown sailing westward with a partial outline of the eastern and western continents on either side of the stamp. The stamp is printed in brown.

The design of the $2 stamp shows the Graf Zeppelin emerging from the clouds passing a globe representing the earth, and traveling toward the west. This stamp is printed in blue. The Graf Zeppelin stamps will first be placed on sale at the postoffice in Washington, April 19.

MAYBE IT'S ONLY A WEED TO EVERYBODY ELSE - BUT IT'S A FLOWER TO ME - I KNOW PEOPLE DON'T RAISE DANDELIONS LIKE THEY RAISE TULIPS AN HOLLYHOCKS - IT'S JUST A SORT OF AN ORPHAN FLOWER THAT NOBODY SEEMS TO CARE ABOUT - AN' MAYBE THAT'S WHY I'M SO STRONG FOR IT -

I HOPE HE'LL BE ABLE TO SEE IT - BUT, I'M AFRAID HE WON'T - AT HIS AGE AN OPERATION NEVER DOES MUCH GOOD - I'M AFRAID HE'LL COME OUT OF THAT HOSPITAL THE WAY HE GOES INTO IT -
IF HE WAS RICH IT WOULD BE DIFFERENT - BUT A POOR MAN HASN'T MUCH CHANCE ANY MORE -
OH MRS POORLEY PLEASE DON'T SAY THAT - IF MOST POOR PEOPLE DIDN'T GET WELL AFTER THEY GOT SICK - IT'S A CINCH THERE WOULDN'T BE SO MANY POOR PEOPLE IN THE WORLD -
